So how did Phyllis learn to repair, configure, perform software upgrades, and know when to replace items? There are no college courses, few Junior College classes, and few internet tutorials on computer system operation. Well, believe it or not, you learn by doing. Remember Phyllis likes to read and learn new things. And that's how she did it. Using her powers of concentration, her analytical capabilities, and a big dose of bravery she learned mostly by doing. Of course she had some help from the Server Manufacturers, and some of the software developers but most of what she knows she mastered on her own. Because computer system administration is so challenging and there are so few formal ways of learning it, the few who do learn it command very high salary levels in the corporate business world.

We are so fortunate to have a competent and dedicated individual like Phyllis. So, the next time you go to the library, think about how much you depend on Phyllis and all the electronic equipment she keeps up and running so you can accomplish your goals at no additional cost to you. What a bargain.

Computer Classes by M.S.U. Extension Service at your local Library will be on Sept. 9th at 10:00 am for Picayune and Sept. 16th at 10:00 am for Poplarville. These classes will mainly be geared towards people looking for a job.. so we are calling them "Computer Classes for Job Seekers."
